Allowable Subject Matter

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art fails to teach the automated trade support system claimed.

According to the present invention, the trade price is acquired each time a deal is completed, and it is determined whether the trade price meets the offering price that is suggested in the prospectus of a public offering. If an excessive difference between the two prices is found during the subscription period, a buying or selling order is placed at a price within an allowable range around the suggested offering price. The present are allowed because it has been shown that the limitations in combination yield an improved trade supporting system and method to avoid an unwanted price drop and undue dilution during the subscription period for those subscribers who agree to buy new securities at the suggested offering price.

Relevant art includes US Pub 2003/0028467 and JP 2002117232.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Richard C. Weisberger whose telephone number is 571 272 6753. The examiner can normally be reached on 6:30 AM to 10:30PM.
